

Nanosafety for young scientists

The EU Nanosafety Cluster and the FP7-eNanoMapper project jointly organize a scientific conference which focuses on oral presentations by young scientists working in EU-funded and national nanosafety projects.

The event is an open forum for young and senior scientists working in the nanosafety research field, where they can have the opportunity to network and exchange scientific information and learn from each other.

A brief abstract should be sent to:
<http://www.trippus.net/nanosafetyforum2016>
before June 15, 2016.

The presentations will be selected by the scientific programme committee from the submitted abstracts. There will be no poster sessions.

Venue

A former Viking settlement on the island of Gotland, about 100 km from the coast of Sweden, the Hanseatic city of Visby is arguably the best-preserved Medieval city in Scandinavia and since 1995, it is on the list of UNESCO World Heritage Sites. As the ancient city walls still stand and surround the old part of the city, Visby gives a taste of what living in Medieval times must have been like.

The meeting will be held at the Gotland Museum (Sävesalen), and the banquet will be held in Bildstenshallen at the Gotland Museum.
